If your organization is anything like thousands of others across the country, you probably had to answer "no" to quite a few of the checklist questions. If that is the case, the checklist will help you identify many of the elements needed to prepare for an emergency or crisis. We strongly recommend addressing each issue within the checklist as you develop a comprehensive emergency response plan. If you answered "no" to any of the checklist questions, corrective action should be taken as soon as possible.
